The Auburn shoe factories shipped 1,974 cases of shoes during the past week. The factories receive 185,001 pounds of leather.

Louis Bore, the porter and bootblack at the Upper Maine Central depot, has given up his trip to his parents in France. He got as far as New York when his wife was stolen [illegible] and he was obliged to return. [illegible] has given up all hope of ever seeing his old home again.

The late Mary M. Fletcher, a wealthy and benevolent woman just deceased at Burlington, Vt., by her will left her valuable residence and its contents to Dr. Perkins of Auburn,—her uncle. Miss Fletcher founded a State hospital and gave it a $200,000 fund. Dr. Perkins has been Miss Fletcher's physician.

[illegible] has been the luckiest city in the State this year in the matter of fires, at the same time giving due credit to the excellently equipped fire department. Whole number of fires, twenty-five; total losses $3,510. Of this $590 was outside of the city limits. [illegible] on this was insurance to the amount of $37,650. The above loss is the smallest recorded in this city for eleven years.

Last week Rev. G. M. P[illegible] travelled 150 miles, preached a [illegible] sermon, including three funerals, attended one wedding, one parish meeting, one prayer meeting and spoke at one Grange meeting, says the Herald.

The notorious Cochrans and Hamilton [illegible] at Houlton, defended by [illegible] Powers, C. B. Roberts and King. After the State had put in its evidence the prisoners pleaded guilty. Young Keating, indicted for firing Marshall's barn, was tried and acquitted.

During the year 1884, nine hundred and thirty-five full car loads of Aroostook productions were shipped from Houlton alone, beside full car loads more of mixed freight. This was over three car loads every business day in the year sent forward, to say nothing of the immense amount of merchandise imported during the same period.

He was born in Winthrop and commenced the study of law in Augusta. He began practice at East Machias but afterward returned to Augusta. He leaves one son, Stephen, a successful lawyer in New York.

A special town meeting was held in Waterville, Tuesday, to consider the adoption of a city charter. It was defeated, [illegible] a little more than one-half the vote only being out. Last year the charter was defeated by 120 majority on a smaller vote than this year. Very little work was done, and no organization had been effected in aid of the adoption of the charter. Its friends are encouraged, and think another year will bring its adoption.

A Resolution Not Passed.

AN UNWISE SLUR AT MR. BLAINE—THEN THE DEMOCRATS HEAR A LITTLE PLAIN LANGUAGE FROM REPUBLICAN SENATORS

Before the New York Legislature met Wednesday, the Democratic members held a caucus at which they directed a committee to send congratulations to Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Hendricks, and also to draw up an "unpartisan" resolution for submission to the Legislature. This resolution is as follows:

Whereas, Grover Cleveland, a distinguished citizen and late Governor of the State of New York, who has been associated with the Legislature during the past two years in the discharge of official duties, has been elevated to the Presidency by the suffrages of the people, therefore,

Resolved (if the Assembly concur,) that in appreciation of the honor thus conferred upon our State, the Legislature as a mark of respect due, adjourn at 1 P. M.

The assembly passed the resolution as if it were a mere matter of form, but there was a conflict over it in the Senate. [illegible]

"There was a bare quorum of Senators present, including five Democrats, all of whom wore bouquets in the lappels of their coats. No bills of general importance were considered and the greater part of the short session was occupied in discussing the question whether the inauguration of Grover Cleveland, as President of the United States was a cause of humiliation or of rejoicing to the American people. The resolution prepared by the committee was offered by M. C. Murphy, who, next to "Tim" Campbell, is recognized as the leading champion of the new President in the Legislature. It was about noon when the resolution was offered and it immediately elicited a discussion which lasted till after 1 o'clock when the Senate adjourned, on motion of Senator Ellsworth, without taking a vote on the resolution.

The leading speech of the debate was made by Senator Gilbert, in reply to some remarks of Mr. Thacher, in which the latter said that the humiliation of the Republican party began at Chicago when it nominated a man with the character and record of James G. Blaine. In answer to this remark Mr. Gilbert said that he was ready here or elsewhere, now or at any other time, to discuss the question of character and record as between Grover Cleveland and James G. Blaine. Mr. Blaine, he said, had filled many of the highest offices in the gift of the people, and had filled them all with great distinction and honor. His own State had made him Speaker of its House of Representatives, and had elected him to both houses of Congress. He was repeatedly elected to the Speakership of the National House of Representatives. When the martyred Garfield was made President he selected Mr. Blaine among 50,000,000 of people as the most fit man to be the leading adviser in his Cabinet. When Garfield was murdered Mr. Blaine was selected by common consent as the best man to pronounce his eulogy. The charges that were made against him by the Democrats and free trade Republicans in the last campaign were as flimsy and baseless as the motives that prompted them were vile and infamous and hypocritical.

They were pronounced groundless after full and careful examination by such men as Noah Davis, William M. Evarts, Hannibal Hamlin and a host of others the best and purest minded men in the country. How was it with Grover Cleveland? the Senator asked. What was his character and record? He would not repeat any of the charges made against him, but would simply take his character and record as confessed by himself and uncontradicted. And taking it, as thus established, he would ask, in all sincerity, whether there was a father of a family in the broad land who could point his sons to Grover Cleveland and say: "There is a man whose character is worthy of your imitation; there is a man whose record and whose moral and daily life I can recommend to you as a model to be followed." Could any person in the United States say this to his children? he asked. "Not one."

"I say then," continued Mr. Gilbert, "and I repeat it, that the inauguration of such a man to be the President of the United States is humiliating to the moral sense of every man and woman in this country, and looked upon as it will be in that high office by the Democratic party whose chief strength lies in the Solid South, where the Constitutional rights of Republicans are trampled on, where the doctrine of Secession has never been repented of and is still held as a perpetual menace, backed up I say by such a party with its past record of treason and rebellion, his inauguration instead of being a cause of rejoicing is a cause of humiliation, of sorrow and of apprehension to every loyal heart in this Nation."

Golden Wedding

The Calais Times says: The celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. William Duren occurred recently and was one of the most notable social events of the season. Mr. Duren's fine residence on Hinckley Hill was filled by a large gathering of relatives and friends, and a most enjoyable evening was passed. Many of the oldest residents of Calais and St. Stephen were present, and engaged in dancing with all the spirit and zest of younger years.

Numerous elegant and valuable gifts in gold were presented to the honored couple on the occasion, but we will mention only the one tendered by Rev. James Vincent, in a neat and appropriate address. This gift was in the form of a beautiful and costly gold watch and chain, an inscription within the watch showing that it was the offering of 6th business men of Calais and St. Stephen. This no doubt was intended not only as a token of esteem, but as a testimonial of Mr. Duren's public services as Mayor and Legislator, and his honorable career for half a century as a prominent business man, and his constant aid in all matters looking to the advancement of this community. The business women of Calais and St. Stephen also bestowed on Mrs. Duren a gift of large value.

Mr. Duren attained the age of seventy four years on the 7th of January, but, from temperate habits through life, would be regarded as many years younger by all not acquainted with the facts. He is still actively engaged in business. Mrs. Duren celebrated her seventieth birthday on the 11th of last month, and also enjoys good health. It is the hope, as it is the expectation, that the worthy couple may abide many years more in a community for which they have done so much and where they are held in universal respect and the warmest esteem.

Mr. and Mrs. Duren were married at Milltown in 1835, and have resided in Calais during the entire period of their married life.

A Strange Woman

HOW MARY CARROLL HAS DISCHARGED THE DUTIES OF RAILWAY SWITCHMAN SIXTEEN YEARS

[Macon (Ga.) Letter to the Atlanta Constitution.]

There is living in this city one of the most remarkable women in the world. Her name is Mary Carroll and she is the only living female switchman. Her life is as singular as her experiences are thrilling. She is sixty five years old, and does more hard work than any man of her age. Her residence is about a mile from the passenger depot where her every-day life is spent. Situated opposite, at the railroad junction, is a small house on the main switch that guides the trains into the city from the Southwestern and Macon and Western railroads. In this little house, seated before a roaring pine-knot fire, in an old-fashioned split-bottom chair, she can be found smoking a pipe and knitting every day from 5.30 in the morning to 5 in the afternoon. In the centre of the room is a large switch with crank and windlass. Her duties are to change the rails for the different trains by this windlass.

She is a specimen of physical womanhood seldom seen in a lifetime. Notwithstanding the severe strain of the windlass on her body and her ripe old age, she moves about with the sprightliness of a much younger person. She is a jolly old soul and is known far and near. She saw the first bar of iron laid on the Monroe Railroad Nov. 22, 1838, now the Macon and Western. She was personally acquainted with Master Machinist Robert Findlay, who was the engineer on the "Ocmulgee," the first engine that went over the road. She saw the first passenger car run to section seven of the road Dec. 3, and when the first train ran from Macon to Forsyth, Dec. 9 of the same year, was one of the passengers. She has seen every engine and known personally nearly every engineer and fireman of the roads that run into Macon. Every one has the highest respect for her and always has a pleasant exchange of compliment.

Her life's history is a romantic one. There are chapters in it that would furnish food for novels. She has been married three times, and has had five children, one of whom is living. After the trains had all passed except the down train from Atlanta, which was an hour and twenty minutes late, she chunked the fire and drifted into a conversation touching her life:

"My husband, John Carroll, was appointed, after he had been in the war one year, switchman in 1863 by Supt. A. J. White of the Central Railroad. He held the position until his death, Nov. 29, 1869, during which time he never had an accident happen to him. I used to help him. My son and myself in the day and he at night. After his death Mr. White sent for me and asked me if I would take charge of the switch. I told him I would. He issued the order and put my name on the pay roll of the company, instead of my husband's, Dec. 1, 1869, the day after he was buried, which I have held since. The men all treat me with politeness and respect. I never have anything unpleasant to happen. Since I have been here, only doing the work in the day, over twenty men doing the night work have been discharged. The average is six trains a day passing, and the schedules change often. I have saved all the old schedules issued to me, and the pile is over a yard high. I used to signal with my bonnet when the train would come in, but had an accident and they sent me that red flag you see in the corner. I have never had any serious accidents. Nearly a year ago I forgot to turn the switch and the Macon and Western and the Southwestern ran together. The latter was turned over the rails. No one was hurt and the authorities let me off.

My next accident was when I let the Southwestern run over the switch. I received notice to appear before Major Shellman for reprimand. He told me never to let it occur again. One day I left a person in charge of the switch. I went to Macon and got lost. I was wandering around the streets and ran upon Major Shellman. He sent me notice of my discharge, but took me back. My next accident was in 1883, during a severe hail storm. The Southwestern and Macon and Western collided. The latter was to take the track, the former was thrown off. Since then I have not had an accident. In all my long experience here I never killed any one or caused any serious loss. I have never been away from my post except about two months in the past sixteen years; that was mostly last September, when I lost my daughter. I come here at daylight and leave at dark. I use tobacco constantly, but I have been a member of Jones Chapel Methodist Church for fifteen years and read my Bible regularly. I am possessed of the full vigor of youth and never have sick a day. I try to do right in the world. I have had lots of trouble in my lifetime and am living this life because I [illegible] it. I guess I will finish my days here."

My mother was confined to her bed four weeks with a cough and had every attention by a good physician but he failed to effect a cure, and when I got one bottle of your Dr. Wm. FOR MAYOR:

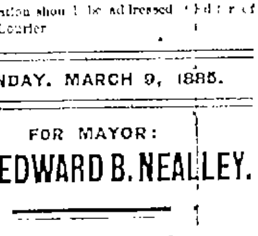
Hon. EDWARD B. NEALLEY.



VICTORY WITHIN REACH.

Before another edition of this paper is printed the citizens of Bangor will have elected a Mayor and City Council for the ensuing year. As the matter stands to-day the Republicans have four wards in the city and the Democrats three. It will be seen therefore that a change in one ward will give the opposition the control of the City Government. This is a thing the voters of Bangor do not want, but it is [illegible] that the Democrats will put forth every effort to bring about to-day. They [illegible] and will resort to any and all devices that will aid [illegible] for [illegible] most tickets [illegible] well known to the [illegible] of this city and is forewarned is forearmed. Our friends should be on the [illegible] ready to detect and thwart any [illegible] it may be attempted. Watch the polls carefully and if any fraud is undertaken put an end to it at once [illegible] the contest [illegible] peculiar [illegible] should be taken to [illegible] may mark the difference between [illegible] and defeat. We want to [illegible] therefore caution them [illegible] to claim [illegible] of our candidate Hon. Edward B. Nealley we need add nothing to what we have already said. His fitness for the position is well understood. That man will [illegible] the city's interests in safe hands if intrusted to [illegible] was nominated at the largest caucus [illegible] and the same spirit [illegible] enthusiasm manifested on that occasion will secure his triumphant election [illegible] victory at the polls to-day is within the grasp of the Republican party. Let Republicans give the regular ticket their earnest support and there [illegible] doubt of the election of the whole ticket.

Point Worth Remembering

Every exertion should be made [illegible] to secure the [illegible] of a Republican City Government [illegible] the Democrats succeed [illegible] will [illegible] the [illegible] control of the city for [illegible] We have no [illegible] they would willingly sacrifice Mr [illegible] if by so doing they could gain [illegible] and [illegible] the Democrats are looking [illegible] this city to-day would [illegible] preparing for the more [illegible] contest in 1886. Beware of all [illegible] Vote the straight Republican ticket and [illegible] each individual voter [illegible] for its success.

Go to the Polls Early.

[illegible] to urge once more the importance of getting out the full Republican strength to-day. It is also essential that our friends go to the polls early. In doing this they can materially aid the rallying committees. Let every Republican feel that he has a duty to perform and [illegible] a little time to the cause. United effort [illegible] is necessary to insure a Republican [illegible] for the next year.

Pretended Confidence

The pretended confidence of the Democrats in their ability to carry the election to-day is only assumed in the hope of encouraging [illegible] of their own. They know that their only hope of success rests in the Republicans failing to get out their voters and the enthusiasm manifested [illegible] our [illegible] is [illegible] in that direction. Instead of being confident they are alarmed at the outlook, knowing as they do that their chance for victory is based upon a very improbable foundation. Separated from the Democratic party Mr White might not be objectionable to many voters in this city, but when he is used as a means for placing the affairs of the city in the absolute control of that party, the people of Bangor realize the necessity for action and will be at the polls to-day to frustrate the carefully laid plans of the Democracy.

Work for All

Tuesday morning we hope to announce the election of Hon. Edward B. Nealley and a Republican City Government. Such a result is worthy of the earnest efforts of every good citizen, and the man who has the future welfare of the city at heart cannot perform a better day's work than to do his level best to help bring it about. Those of our citizens who have teams not otherwise engaged can render valuable service by taking to the polls some infirm voter who resides at a distance and who might not be able to get out. There are many ways in which a little active work can be made to count in this contest and it should be cheerfully performed.

The attempt of the editor of the Commercial to excite the wrath of the temperance people and the opponents of prohibition in almost the same breath, as it were, is exceedingly amusing. The tender solicitude of the editor of the Commercial at election time only excites the disgust of temperance people who fully appreciate his motives.

Not a Difficult Candidate to Defeat.

A great deal has been said of late concerning the popularity of Mr. White, and his election has been predicted on that ground. It is correctly claimed that he ran ahead of his ticket in the State election last fall but a comparison of the Representative vote reveals the truth of our statement that he stands no possible chance of success against the united strength of the Republican party. Taking the lowest vote on our Representative ticket and we find that Mr White lacked 591 votes of an election last September. Bring out the full party vote to-day and the boasted popularity of the Democratic candidate will again be at a discount.

"A Low Priced Reformer"

The editor of the Whig becomes very much amused when any one mentions reform. * * * We are sorry to arouse his ire, but nevertheless reforms are needed in our City Government and the people propose that they shall be made.—Commercial.

No, we are amused to hear the Commercial talk of something of which it is entirely unfamiliar. A paragraph similar to the above has appeared in the Commercial for several days past, but when we ask the editor to name some of the "reforms" that are so much needed in the management of our city affairs, he is absolutely unable to make a suggestion. We asked the question in good faith and the fact that he fails even to attempt an answer shows the insincerity of his purpose. It is simply the shout of a trickster who hopes to catch a few votes, but the people are not to be caught with any such chaff.

The Democratic forces, Brigadier General "Bill" [illegible] commanding, are going to make a strong effort to capture this city to-day. It is rather galling to some of the members of the party to follow his lead when they remember the old [illegible] and is known by the company he keeps, but it is inevitable. He is the regularly chosen leader and his orders must be obeyed. With such a commander every move of the enemy will bear watching. Give them a warm reception all along the line and see that every point is made equally impregnable.

It is well known that Mr. [illegible] is not the man for [illegible] the [illegible] of our city give him [illegible] management.—Commercial.

This is too silly to call for any extended notice. Mr. [illegible] has pledged his best efforts to the city if elected and [illegible] of the nature quoted above only serve to [illegible] the [illegible] of the Commercial [illegible] The Republicans of Bangor [illegible] to elect [illegible] and the [illegible] is [illegible] the Commercial office [illegible] will give the city a wise, prudent and business-like administration.

Yes, a Grand Old Party

It is [illegible] political organization itself [illegible] the time to judge of its character is in the hour of adversity. Measured by this standard the Republican party never deserved the love and the admiration of its adherents more than it does to-day. It fought the battle for continued supremacy against great odds. There were foes within its own household [illegible] to [illegible] and yet, with all these disadvantages to contend against, it failed by the narrowest of margins. Wrongfully deprived of victory under the forms of law, it quietly [illegible] up the control of the Government, and [illegible] its opponents [illegible] the task of [illegible] the country. If in the hour of its triumph the Republican organization was rightly named the grand old party, it has doubly earned this title by its [illegible] in the hour of defeat.

If the [illegible] disappointment anywhere in the ranks of the organization, it is not visible in the party journals. A diligent search through an exchange list which covers the country betrays no sign of it. There is no vain and empty [illegible] but a tone of quiet confidence in the party's strength and a willingness to give the new Administration a fair trial and judge it upon its merits. No surer sign of the party's soundness could be given than this. A policy of [illegible] towards its opponent and the adoption of [illegible] in the [illegible] would expose its weakness only. Happily there is no evidence that such a [illegible] will be pursued. Its history is too inspiring, its record too grand and the intelligence and worth of those [illegible] its adherents are too powerful to permit the grand old party to [illegible] the level occupied by the Democracy during the past twenty-four years.

The Republican party throws down the gauntlet again to its opponents, as it did after the defeat of 1884. It appealed to the conscience of the Nation then in favor of freedom and [illegible] It appeals to the same court now and asks whether its efforts to lift [illegible] slaves into manhood shall be defeated [illegible] who once held them in bondage. It asks whether the free [illegible] North is willing to be ruled by an oligarchy of ex-slaveholders in the South. And it awaits the verdict with the same calm confidence in the justness of its cause as it did twenty-five years ago.

The few elections that have taken place this year give no sign of weakness, but [illegible] proofs of an intention to keep the Republican [illegible] intact and [illegible].

Blowing Hot and Cold

[Boston Journal.]

The Herald is [illegible] to swallow it straight and not [illegible] over it. It promises to surpass the Globe in standing by the President through thick and thin. It started off with the determination to be one of Mr Cleveland's advisers, but finding that the President ignores its suggestions, it is now content to say ditto. It is only a few weeks since it suggested that it would not be good policy for the Democratic party or for the Administration to take the Attorney General from the South. In its issue of Thursday it recants, and says the President has done wisely to invite Garland to a seat in his Cabinet:

Boston Herald, Dec. 12.

"The Richmond Dispatch misses the point of our suggestion that it would not be good policy for the Democratic party or for the Administration which is to represent it, to take the Attorney General from the South * * * In the present state of public feeling we think it would be better policy, both for the South and the Democratic party, not to take the law officer of the Government from that section."

Boston Herald, Mar.

"President Cleveland has eliminated it [sectionalism] from the Administration. It was high time that this should be done. If the United States is a Nation, as the Republicans rightly maintain, and if the Union is fully restored, the day for excluding one-third of the States from participation in the Executive branch of the Government, and for discriminating against loyal and faithful citizens because of a difficulty that was finally settled, and its cause rooted out and removed, twenty years ago, should be past. President Cleveland has done well in inviting Messrs. Lamar and Garland to seats in his council."

Transferring the Departments—The New Secretaries Taking the Oath of Office

WASHINGTON, March 7. The formal transfer of the Treasury Department from ex-Secretary McCulloch to Secretary Manning took place about 10.30 this morning. Secretary Manning, however, will not take charge until Monday. Assistant Secretary Coon acts, in the meantime. Secretary Manning and Mr. McCulloch remained closeted together several hours talking over the business and personnel of the department. Secretary McCulloch says he takes it for granted that Mr. Manning shares the views of President Cleveland on questions of finance, and as the President's views on that subject were strictly in accord with his own, he did not anticipate any change in the present financial policy of the Government.

In the State, War and Navy Department buildings this morning the retiring Secretaries bade their chiefs and clerks good bye and complimented them on their services. Secretary Chandler called upon his subordinates in their respective rooms. Prior to the incoming Secretary taking the oath of office the building was filled with visitors. Congressman-elect Wheeler, of Alabama, headed the delegation that entered the apartment occupied by the Secretary of the Navy. Members of the delegation were above the average size and numbered about a dozen. They were introduced to the retiring Secretary, every one as a General or a Colonel. Mr. Chandler folded his hands in front of him and plaintively remarked: "Gentlemen, give me time to pray." Then he turned to Wheeler and was about to ask where are the Judges and Congressmen-elect. Before the question was propounded he left the room but soon returned with four Alabamians to all of whom he gave the title of Judge and General amid laugh followed.

Promptly at 12 o'clock four of President Cleveland's Cabinet, Bayard, Whitney, Endicott and Garland, entered the office of the Secretary of State. Mrs. Endicott, wife of the new Secretary of War, accompanied the party, as did also Justice Field, of the United States Supreme Court. Immediately after entering Mr. Bayard took the oath of office, which was administered by Justice Field. Secretary Frelinghuysen and ex-Assistant Secretary Davis were present, also Senator Payne, of Ohio, and ex-Attorney General Pierrepont. The party then went to the room occupied by Secretary Chandler, where Mr. Whitney took the oath of office as Secretary of the Navy. In Secretary Lincoln's office, where Lieut. Gen. Sheridan and staff and other officials of the War Department had assembled, the oath was administered to Mr. Endicott. As soon as Justice Field had administered the oath the various army officers were in turn introduced to the new Secretary by Mr. Lincoln. Attorney General Garland was sworn into office at the Department of Justice at about noon to-day. The party proceeded from the Department of Justice to the Treasury Department, where the oath of office was administered to Secretary Manning by Justice Field.

Postmaster-General Vilas and Secretary Lamar also took the oath of office and entered upon the discharge of their duties. There was little formality in the ceremony in either case. The rush of visitors to the White House continued to-day with no apparent decrease in number.

The first official act of Secretary Whitney to-day was to sign the appointment of Nathan B. Clark, to be Chief Engineer on the retired list of the Navy.

Congratulatory Calls

Secretary Lamar received a great number of congratulatory calls to-day. The Commissioner of the General Land Office, Commissioner of Indian Affairs and Commissioner of Pensions had prepared their resignations, but at the Secretary's request deferred presenting them till Monday. One of Secretary Lamar's first official acts was to reinstate Mr. Hammas [illegible] private secretary to the Secretary of the Interior, which position he had held under Secretaries Schurz and Teller. Postmaster General Vilas also received a number of callers, but left the department early in the afternoon, thus preventing the Assisting Postmasters General from presenting their resignations.

The Hazen Court-Martial

It is understood Judge Advocate [illegible], counsel for General Hazen, will challenge all the members of the Court Martial which convenes on Wednesday next for the trial of that officer, on the ground that the late Secretary of War brought the charge of disrespect to himself and at the same time made the detail for the court, which legally [illegible] its character as a judicial body.

Miss Cleveland's Reception

Miss Cleveland held her first Saturday afternoon reception at the White House to day. The callers numbered several hundred, a majority of whom are strangers who have been in attendance at the Washington ceremonies the past week.

The President's Callers—Applicants for Office not Desired to Call

The Judges of the Court of Claims called in a body about 2 o'clock.

The President has notified his Private Secretary that he does not purpose to receive persons who call in regard to appointments, as he is desirous that all applications of that character shall be acted upon by the head of the department they belong to.

MYSTERIOUS POISONING CASE.

A Family of Five Poisoned—Only the Father Expected to Recover.

LAMOURE, Dak., March 7. A case of poisoning has occurred in the family of Joseph Hall, 6 miles south of here. Hall, his wife and three children retired at the usual hour last night in good health. He had arranged with a neighbor to ride into town with him this morning. When the latter called at Hall's house he found all the inmates unconscious except the woman. Mrs Hall was barely able to speak and could give no explanation. Physicians called from this place cannot tell what caused the trouble. Hall's face is terribly swollen. He recovered, but the doctors think the others will die.

KEOKUK, Iowa, March 7. A party of men who went a few miles up the river to rescue Mrs. Mary Kennedy, whose [illegible] house surrounded by water and ice, have just returned. They were successful. They report the Missouri river bottom, above Alexander, is a sea of ice and water and that fences and stock at least must have suffered some loss. The water comes up to the top of the corn stalks standing in the field. People have been driven from their homes by the floods near Saint Francisville, Missouri.

Is Gladstone Losing His Mind?

One of the subjects of society talk is Mr. Gladstone's increasing eccentricities. SUFFERING WOMANHOOD

Too much effort cannot be made to bring to the attention of suffering womanhood the great value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the diseases of women, and perhaps nothing is more effectual than the testimony of those who have been cured by it. Such an one is the wife of General Barringer of Winston, N. C., and we quote from the General's letter as follows: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham: Please allow me to add my testimony to the most excellent medicinal qualities of your Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Barringer was treated for several years. I sent her to Richmond, Va., where she remained for six months under the treatment of an eminent physician without any permanent benefit. She was induced to try your medicine and after a reasonable time commenced to improve and is now able to attend to her business and considers herself fully relieved." Yesterday was a delightful day and the city streets were full of handsome turnouts. Mr. J. M. Hill and Miss Margaret Mather behind the famous pacers, Westmont and Lorene, enjoyed the splendid sleighing around Bangor and their stylish team was admired by everybody.

Mr. F. W. Carr, the American Express agent in this city, advertised a lost dog in this paper some ten weeks ago. Saturday the dog was found. He had been caught in a rabbit snare out on the Kenduskeag road and had tried to gnaw himself out but failing in the attempt died of starvation.

Arrangements have been completed for the striking of the fire alarm on days when the weather is inclement to inform scholars that there will be no session of the city schools. It is hoped that the firemen will not be deceived by the school alarm. It will be struck either at eight or eleven o'clock.

Hon. A. G. Lebroke, of Foxcroft, Senator from Piscataquis County, was at the Penobscot Exchange last evening. He goes to Foxcroft this morning. Mr. Lebroke did not leave Augusta from the beginning to the end of the legislative session, thus making a record for attendance which but few of the members equalled.

The Daughters of Rebekah, Excelsior Lodge, No. 25, hold a sociable and dance to-morrow night at Odd Fellows' Hall. They have extended a cordial invitation to all Odd Fellows and their families. This is a new organization and the proceeds of this entertainment are to be used toward the purchase of new regalia.

The entertainment given by the scholars of the Oldtown High School at the Town Hall last Friday night was a complete success in every particular. The programme was quite lengthy and every selection was well rendered and received. There was a large audience present and the affair was much enjoyed. The receipts amounted to about eighty dollars which amount greatly exceeded the expectations of the scholars and their friends.

Harry W. French and family, with Mr. French's business agent, Mr. E. W. McGlenen, sail for England on the "City of Chicago," Inman Line, leaving New York April 9th. Mr. French is under contract with English managers to deliver his American lectures in London and other cities of Great Britain through the summer. He opens in London about May 1st. He will return to this country in the Fall, as he is already booked for nearly the entire winter in America, beginning Oct. 7th.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES. Tomorrow forenoon the January term of the Supreme Judicial Court again convenes. The first hour will be used for the transaction of legal business and at 11 A. M., the memorial exercises in honor of the late Abraham Sanborn will be held by the Penobscot Bar. Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, N. Wilson, Esq., and others will speak. Services will also be held and remarks will be made on the life of the late John Benson, of Newport and the death of the late Hon. Alpheus Lyon will be noticed in a fitting manner. The general public, ladies as well as gentlemen, are invited to be present and hear the remarks.

STILLWATER ITEMS. A correspondent writes: The Council of United Fellowship at this place give an entertainment in Excelsior Hall on Thursday evening next. It promises to be a highly interesting and successful affair.——There is being a large amount of wood and bark hauled through the village this winter. Much of it comes from Porter's Mills.——The bridge across the Stillwater river has been undergoing extensive repairs. A new abutment has been built which is somewhat of an improvement over the old one.——The work of storing the winter crop of ice is nearly completed. The people of this place use more ice in the summer than those of any other place of the size in the county. The greater part of the families have ice houses.

When the chair had happily welcomed the large audience and spoken encouragingly for the future he introduced the following members of the Club, in the order stated: Messrs. Wm. R. Glass, A. P. Richardson, Thomas Hanover, Donald Mathison, Vice President Edwin Kearney, and Col. W. T. Lusdis, of Dixfield. All that was said breathed an unselfish devotion to the work of turning the erring unfortunate into the better pathway of manhood's true prosperity. The singing by Mr. Haynes, assisted by his talented daughters, was a feature of real enjoyment to every one present. Signatures to the pledge were obtained.

AMUSEMENTS.

Miss Margaret Mather as "Pauline."

While the audience which assembled at the Opera House Saturday afternoon, was hardly as large as that of the previous evening it was as enthusiastic over the presentation of the "Lady of Lyons" as the other over the presentation of the "Honeymoon." The play is very familiar to Bangor theatre goers, many of whom have seen some of the leading actresses of the country in the role of Pauline, but the play is presented by Miss Mather and her company in a manner that wins the highest praise from all the listeners. Miss Mather essays the role of Pauline very successfully. The interest in her impersonation begins at the first moment she appears on the stage and steadily increases until the end of the last act. The acts in which Pauline appears in the humble cottage of Claude Melnotte are those showing the strongest acting, and where Claude hastens from her to the field of battle and she falls fainting to the floor the whole audience is deeply stirred. The role affords a splendid chance for the displaying of Miss Mather's beauty and graceful carriage, and the costumes worn by her throughout the play were rich and very beautiful. Miss Mather was most ably supported by Mr. Frederick Paulding as Claude Melnotte. His acting was very strong and even and won high commendation. The rest of the support was also very fine. The audience were enthusiastic throughout the play and at the end of the second, third and fourth acts Miss Mather and Mr. Paulding were called before the curtain amid hearty applause. At the end of the last act the curtain was rung up in response to the demands of the audience. Miss Mather's rendition of Pauline will long be remembered here as one of the most pleasing ever witnessed on our stage.

Miss Mather as Lady Macbeth

Probably the greatest interest which attended the present visit of Miss Mather to this city, was in her presentation of the important and difficult role of Lady Macbeth, and this was shown in the very large house which greeted her closing performance Saturday evening. Lacking in physical proportions the traditional physique of the ambitious unscrupulous and strong willed wife of the treacherous though weak of purpose Macbeth, Miss Mather was thrown the more completely upon her immense intellectual and emotional resources. That these resources were equal to the occasion was fully demonstrated by the effect produced upon her audience, which was brought up to a point of even painful intensity as it watched the portrayal of the many and varied situations of the absorbing and thrilling role. Unlike the conceptions of some actresses of high repute who have appeared as Lady Macbeth, Miss Mather did not, as it were, even in her resolute nerving of herself and the thane for the horrible crime, wholly unsex herself, as was apparent in the interview wherein the guilty pair whisper their dread of the commission of the crime and which grows and increases, as was shown even more fully in the remorse which followed, eating upon her life like a canker, until the closing scene in which she walks in her sleep, betraying her terrible secret to the watchers.

In this scene Miss Mather departs from the conventional manner of holding up steadily from the chamber, and by a sudden movement, so quietly and naturally performed as to seem an original purpose of the author, knocks over a piece of furniture, which in its fall awakes her from her somnambulistic slumber and reveals to her the presence of the watchers, causing her to fall in a swoon, and the after announcement of her death seems to have been the result of what is said to be the effect upon a person suddenly aroused from a state of somnambulism, and by its use the innovation, as we believe it was by the audience, was regarded as an improvement and as denoting in her a capacity to rise beyond conventionalities and to interpret for herself the true intent of her author.

The scene in the banquet chamber when Macbeth, overcome by the appearance of the murdered Banquo, is so powerfully wrought upon, and where the queen allays the excitement and wonder produced among the guests, was one of intense power and brought out her magnificent qualities in a manner which lend the part faultless. And no one, but an actress of superior ability, could have so combined the subtle influences of love with the over mastering will, superior to all else in bringing the courage of the plotting, yet irresolute Macbeth to the sticking point as did Miss Mather Saturday evening. In make up also she showed a conception of what the Lady Macbeth of Shakspeare should be which met with a hearty response from her auditors. Those who, admiring Miss Mather in the characters heretofore assumed by her, yet fearing that in undertaking this most difficult character she had over rated or over-stepped her powers, were forced to admit their mistake and to acknowledge to the wonderful young artiste a versatility and strength for which they had not given her credit. The enthusiastic calls, many times repeated, for Miss Mather, and to which she kindly responded, was evidence enough, if any were needed, of the great satisfaction her wonderful acting had given, in this, the crowning achievement of a most brilliant career. A better support was accorded to Miss Mather than is often the case with stars who come to our city, and as Macbeth Mr. Milnes Levick gave much satisfaction, his acting, though not entirely perfect, being very strong and showing a good appreciation of the character. Mr. Paulding was excellent as Macduff, more especially in the closing scenes, while the other parts were taken with much acceptability to the audience. As in all the plays which the company has presented, the costumes were most elegant and appropriate, adding much to the interest of the play.

The Coming Opera Season

The Bennett & Moulton Comic Opera Company open a week's engagement at the Opera House to-night, with a performance of "The Mascot." There will be a change of opera nightly. There has already been a very large sale of seats. The company played at Lewiston last week to over 10,000 people, turning them away at several performances.

Manager Geo. A. Baker was interviewed on the subject of cheap prices. He says: "Our business up to 1st May, like all theatrical ventures drew very slim houses. We concluded something had to be done. I was of the opinion that the masses wanted light and respectable entertainment, but could not afford to pay war prices. We then put down the prices and since then having been drawing packed houses. Everything else has gone down and amusement prices must surely follow. Of course there are a few standard attractions, great actors, who can command high prices. We have been on the road 6 years in all and a number of our present singers were with us at the start. We were the second Juvenile Pinafore company (out of Boston). Miss Mamie Bruce was the original Ralph and Miss Mamie Upton was Buttercup. Both were girls attending school at Salem, Mass. Miss Bessie Fairbairn, our leading lady, is of the famous Scotch Fairbairn family. She is single and has been before the public a number of years. Smith and Lodge, our comedians, are young men from Salem and Boston, Miss Bullard and Cory, our tenors, are from Boston and were formerly with the Corinne Merrymakers. We are organizing another opera and also a dramatic company for next season to play at low prices to suit the masses. We go from here to Portland, where we are booked for a week. We shall not return to Bangor again this season, as our time is all filled."

OBITUARY

Francis Milton

Francis Milton died in Oldtown last Friday aged ninety-seven years and five months. He was born in Bristol, England, in the fall of 1787 and went to sea at a very early age, and when about fourteen made a voyage to America and landed at St. Andrews, from which place he ran away, and came to Calais, and soon after went to Eastport. There he shipped on board a small coaster, in which business he continued for several years, the voyages sometimes extending as far as the Kennebec river, the captain and himself making the whole crew. In 1812 at the age of twenty-two he enlisted in the United States service, in Captain Nash's company of volunteers, and served fourteen months when the company was relieved by regular troops. While on sentry duty one night at Eastport he had the pluck and good fortune to capture a smuggler's boat and crew with cargo valued at the [illegible] thousand dollars at the Custom House. In assisting to remove a cannon from [illegible] Eastport, where it had been placed to keep off British cruisers, he had the misfortune to have a leg broken, from the effects of which he had a slight limp ever after during his life. His late years have been gladdened and cheered by a Government pension. Mr. Milton has been twice married and leaves a wife and a large circle of relatives to mourn his departure. He was always an industrious, temperate man and his kindly deportment won him a host of friends. But one 1812 pensioner survives him in this town, and that one is a widow over ninety five years old. His religious proclivities and associations were Episcopalian. Originally a Democrat he became a Republican on the formation of that party. His last political act was to cast his vote for the Blaine electors in November last. Too feeble to walk to the polls, the ballot box was carried out to the carriage in which he was sitting, to enable him to vote.

Sudden Death of William M. Arthur

The many friends of Mr. William M. Arthur were surprised and pained to learn of his sudden death on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Arthur has been troubled all winter with a hoarseness and difficulty with his throat, but has not been confined to his house till within a few days. Saturday it was decided by his physician to have the operation of tracheotomy performed and preparations were made to administer ether, two physicians being in attendance. Just as they were about to give the ether Mr. Arthur turned over on his right side, gasped once or twice and died instantly. It is thought his death was hastened by disease of the heart. He leaves a wife and one child. His funeral will occur to-morrow afternoon from his late residence on Garland street, at half past two o'clock. The deceased was well known and highly esteemed. Having been employed for many years in the [illegible] and shoe store of J. P. Baldwin, Esq., and since his retirement from business with the late David P. Wood, Esq., and [illegible]. He was a man of excellent character, a constant attendant at the First Methodist church, and a good citizen and his sudden death will be greatly lamented.

OUR ORONO LETTER

The High School Exhibition—A Very Interesting and Largely Attended Affair—The Expense of the Schools—Town Meeting

Our correspondent (H. F. A.) writes: There was a very large audience assembled at the Orono Town Hall, Friday evening, March 6th, to witness the annual exhibition of the Orono High School. The stage was tastefully arranged with flags and streamers on the wall, and at the back of the stage the monogram O. H. S., looked very pretty with its gilt coloring. Shortly before eight o'clock Mr. Powell tapped his little bell calling the large assemblage of about seven hundred to order and there was perfect quiet. The exercises were as follows:

[illegible] School
The [illegible] [illegible] Merrill [illegible]
Song [illegible] Winter School
Calisthenics Third Class [illegible]
A Story of Old [illegible] Georgia A. [illegible]

Calisthenics Second Class

[illegible] By [illegible]
The [illegible] Lilies [illegible] Green
Tr[illegible] to the Last Mr. G. T. Moody [illegible]
The Newsboy's Debt F. Emma Foss Jackson
Recitation Briar Rose Miss Vinnie Ring
Song [illegible] Rights By [illegible] Girls
Calisthenics First Class
[illegible] Song School

The song by Mr. Moody was one of the finest selections of the evening, and was most enthusiastically encored and in response he gave "Matrimonial Jars." The accompaniment for each selection was rendered by Miss Bertha Bond. Another very well received part was the recitation by Miss Vinnie Ring who although only thirteen years of age has already given evidence of more than ordinary ability to [illegible] recite. The calisthenic exercises by the whole school were very interesting and cannot be but beneficial to the scholars. Misses Cowan, Bither, Estes and Hamilton acted as accompanists during the evening. The proceeds which netted about fifty-five ($55) dollars will be added to the "Reference Library Fund." The ones more particularly entitled to the credit of the management are Misses Myrtle Dennen, F. Emma Foss, Margo McMillan, Blanche Mosher, Annie Buffum and Lottie Sutton and Masters Dennis Cronin, Claude Hutchinson, Harold Judkins, Ernest Leonard, Frank Tenney. The ushers were Wm. Thompson, M. F. Wilson and True Merrill. This entertainment excelled any of their previous ones and was very interesting and enjoyable.

From advance sheets received of the Superintending School Committee we learn that the running expenses of the schools for the past year has been $4,160 27½, number of different scholars attending school during the year 740; cost per scholar $5 62 1-3. Nine years ago the cost per scholar was $6 78¼. We think the reduced expense per scholar a very good indorsement for our present Superintending School Committee.

The warrant for our annual town meeting which occurs Monday, March 16th, is already posted in the proper place.

The Auburn shoe factories shipped 1,074 cases of shoes during the past week. The factories received 85,001 pounds of leather.

Agricultural.

Penobscot County Farmers' Club,

AT

EAST EDDINGTON, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5.

The meeting was called to order by the President. The question for discussion was announced to be:

"Can beef and mutton be raised in Penobscot county at a profit, and how does it compare with dairying?"

Elijah Comins, of Eddington, one of the best dairy farmers in this county, was called upon to open the discussion. He said he had not heard of the question before and was not prepared to do the subject justice; it needs some very fine thinking; must have a little time to meditate upon the subject, and wished to hear others, but would say, without hesitation, that in his judgment no farmer in Penobscot County could rear a calf for beef, under ordinary circumstances, at a profit. If you have a boy who loves to rear steers and understands training them for use, they can be made to earn a good part of their living; they can haul up, when [illegible] years old, the winter's wood, and do other work. Under such circumstances they can, on a small scale, be made profitable. He had seen the time when he could raise mutton at a profit by taking his eldest sheep up in the fall and giving them daily a liberal feed of provender until spring, when they would demand a good price for mutton, but that time had gone by. Western farmers had injured the market, so he was inclined to stick to his favorite business of dairying. Butter, of late, brought a low price in June, therefore he had changed his tactics and now had his cows come in during the fall. We must keep stock to keep up the fertility of our farms, and if a farmer has a family, cows with a little sprinkling of other stock are the most profitable. If a farmer is a bachelor, he had better raise sheep and swine, as they would be best suited to his capacity. When he was a boy he was taught to feed his course fodder last; now, he feeds it first. Give them in the morning straw, swale hay in the middle of the day and at night the best of clover or some other first quality of hay. In answer to a question he said he did not believe it paid to feed anything with a poor quality of feed.

Mr. French, of Brewer, said he was not a stock raiser, but was very much interested in the question. He related his experience when buying sheep for the market, showing that there were but few farmers who could tell any where near the value of their sheep and lambs. Sometimes they over-estimated them, and at other times they demand only half what they are actually worth. They ought to give more attention to the subject. They should learn to be good judges of their weight and post themselves in regard to market prices.

Mr. T. E. George, of Orrington, thought the business could be made profitable with proper management.

Mr. Dole, of Brewer, thought it a hard question to answer. It seems at the present time that farmers are driven to the wall, they cannot compete with the West. We are on our farms; we must feed the soil; we must have horses and cows. As far as his experience went, he was in favor of raising heifers, good ones, and keep them until they are old enough to show their quality. If they were not good, fat them and kill for beef. He raises his calves on skimmed milk; when [illegible] months old they will eat oats or meal. He keeps up his stock of cows in this way. When they get old he turns them into beef. He does not believe in raising steers for beef, it cannot be done with profit, the time has gone by. Some of us are using our money to buy fertilizers. In answer to question, he did not think he got his money back. He believed this the only way to make our farms profitable.

Mr. H. E. Shaw. This is one of the most important questions we have ever discussed. He believed beef could be raised in this county with profit. It must be done by raising the best known breeds for the purpose and keep them in a thriving condition for two or three years. The best breeds when well handled had tipped the scales when 2 years old at 1,020 lbs, and at four [illegible] lbs., but the last two years increase is much the most expensive. He gave instances showing the great difference in weight, under different methods of feeding. He believed dairy stock can be raised with profit for the milk farms of Mass. Maine ought to furnish their supply of milch cows. Believes in dairying—the demand for fresh butter is always good; believes in co-operation in butter making; butter made at factories is of uniform quality. The farmer must follow that which is the best fitted to his tastes. Calves should be kept in the barn the first year.

AFTERNOON.

Voted to meet at Stetson in two weeks, when Rufus Prince will be present and speak upon the subject of ensilage. The question was again taken from the table.

Mr. Smith, of Orrington.—He had had but little experience in sheep raising. Has a milk farm, did not think it is profitable to raise calves for milk or beef in his business.

Mr. Pierce, a farmer and dealer in beef cattle, knew nothing about dairying, but thinks beef and mutton can be raised at a profit. He gave much valuable information in regard to the subject. In answer to a question as to whether a cow would milk as well and make as good beef if milked up to time of slaughtering, he said it could be done, but the beef would be of a different quality from one that was not milked, and would not be so heavy. Some people liked the flavor of the beef where the cow was milked. His opinion was that it paid better to raise No. 1 beef than the second quality. The difference in feeding was but trifling. Much valuable information was gathered from his remarks. He did not express the slightest doubt about the profits of the business, provided it is well understood and properly managed. He once had a very poor opinion of farming; thought any one was good enough for a farmer; has changed his opinion; finds to farm with success, the man who undertakes it must possess first-class ability in every respect.

Mr. Geo. Hart—Keeps winter cows for milk; does not believe in course fodder—has fed them with straw with poor results—they came in poor.

Mr. Wm. George, of Orrington—This question depends altogether upon the man and his surroundings. If he was compelled to take sides it would be upon Dairying. He would like to know how to get rid of his coarse fodder if it was not to be fed to cattle in some way. He had a cow in his barn which has not eaten fifty lbs. of hay for the winter, and she is in splendid condition. Another fed in the same way does not appear so well. There is as much difference in cattle as in men and boys. One boy does well on doughnuts sweetened with sugar, another prefers them sweetened with molasses. He persists in using up the coarse fodder. Food affects constitutions in the human family differently and why should it not be so with dumb animals?

Mr. Jordan don't think beef can be raised with profit, but dairying can be made profitable. A cow can be fed in two ways—one way the profit can be made in eight years, while in the other the same amount can be made in four years. He adopts the latter method.

The question was further discussed by H. M. Shaw and Mr. Comins, of Eddington, and many others.

The weather was not so favorable as it might have been, but notwithstanding there was a large number present, and many of the most valuable hints were thrown out during the discussion, and the question will probably receive further attention at some future meeting. One important fact was admitted by every member, that cattle will eat more course fodder or good hay when fed with provender. It was also stated that beef from the Chicago market was superior to that put up in this part of the country; it did not shrink near so much in cooking, and the reason for it was attributed to the fact that it was older when slaughtered.

The next meeting will be held at Stetson in two weeks, March 18th. A committee was appointed to see if one fare tickets can be had of the Maine Central Railroad to Etna, where teams are to be in waiting to take all who wish to attend to Stetson free of charge. Hon. Rufus Prince, of East Turner, President of the Maine State Agricultural Society, will give an address on the subject of "Ensilage." It is desirable that all who intend to go by train will leave their names at this office in season to notify friends in Stetson who are to furnish teams.

My little son, now seven years old, broke out, when a babe three weeks, with what the doctors called eczema, beginning on his head and gradually spreading over his whole body. He was treated for [illegible] years or more by various physicians without relief, and the little boy's health was all broken down. About a year ago I was induced to use on him Swift's Specific and two bottles cured him sound and well, and there has been no sign of a return of the disease. F. O. HORNUS.

Poisoned by a Nurse.

Some eight years ago I was inoculated with poison by a nurse who infected my babe with blood taint. The little child lingered along until it was about two years old, when its little life was yielded up to the fearful poison. For six long years I have suffered untold misery. I was covered with sores and ulcers from head to foot, and in my great extremity I prayed to die. No tongue can ever express my feelings of woe during those long six years. I had the best medical treatment. Several physicians successively treated me, but all to no purpose. The Mercury and Potash seemed to add fuel to the awful flame that was devouring me. ON THE ENGINE.

Running a Locomotive while Deathly Sick—Something the Passengers Did Not Know—A Physician Saves the Engineer

TAUNTON, Mass.

Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

Dear Sir: I am an engineer on the Old Colony Railroad, and run the Fall River boat train between Fall River and Lowell, residing in Taunton. For ten years I suffered everything but death from dyspepsia. Often I had such blinding sick headaches that I could scarcely see. I think this was due partly to irregular habits of eating, and partly to the jar of the engine. Sometimes my throat would [illegible] neuralgia, and again the pain would settle in my eyes, which would feel as big [illegible] My breath was very offensive, and my mind [illegible] My stomach felt as though it were a great raw and sore surface, and what agony it gave [illegible]

AYER'S

Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs, none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried.

A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles.

E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

SCROFULA.

Vanderbilt's Money Couldn't Buy It.

The Newnan News and Farmer of this week says: Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, living within three miles of Newnan, remarked that Vanderbilt's fortune could not buy from her what six bottles of Swift's Specific had done for her. Her statement is as follows: For thirty-one years I have suffered almost death from that horrible disease, scrofula. For years I was unable to do anything in keeping up my domestic affairs. Last October I was induced to try Swift's Specific, and used two bottles, and was so much benefited by it that I purchased four more from Messrs. Northcutt & Johnson, which [illegible] I feel like a new person and am able to do all my own housework. Before I took the S. S. A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 28, 1882.

"Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the enclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years, but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.

Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully,

HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.
